

News from your Principal!

Did you know that if you are sick or unable to come to school you can still attend many of your classes remotely? Below you will find a remote schedule for students who are unable to attend for a day, but still want to keep up in their core classes (English, math, science, and social studies). Much like last spring, students need only to follow the schedule below for their grade level and log in to their core classes on google meets at the times marked in the bell schedule using the teacher's code (in parentheses)

No longer does a day home sick have to mean getting a day behind!
